

Hall of Fame Inductees

JEAN ANN GRANDINETTI

Is being inducted into the Defense Supply Center Philadelphia Hall of Fame for her continuous outstanding mission support from 1981 through 1998. Ms. Grandinetti developed the plans and initiatives that positioned DSCP Clothing and Textiles to advance into the 21st Century as a leader in the application of apparel technology. She pioneered a revolutionary process that facilitated government and industry working together to elevate clothing and textile specifications to the cutting edge of manufacturing technology. She was the guiding light in the development and execution of annual Clothing and Textiles Technology Modernization conferences, where all the players in the acquisition process came together to improve the support for America's Fighting Forces worldwide. Ms. Grandinetti was instrumental in the modernization of DSCP's purchasing procedures for military apparel and textile products and a catalyst to bring government and industry together in partnership.
