

Hall of Fame Inductees

ROBERT MOLINO

Is inducted into the Defense Supply Center Philadelphia Hall of Fame this second day of June 1998 for his extraordinary leadership and support as Deputy Commander of DSCP and for his continuous outstanding mission support throughout his tenure at DSCP from 1986 to 1994. Mr. Molino is a recognized national leader in the field of acquisition management and electronic commerce. He was a pioneer in linking the Defense Department with the business community for electronic partnership into the 21st century. He created the New Business Strategies Demonstration Program which centered on adopting commercial buying techniques and emulated commercial ordering and distribution systems. He also reduced suppliers' dependence on defense business through shared production agreements with commercial customers. Through all of his initiatives, he positioned DSCP to be the supplier of choice.
