2. BACKGROUND/UPDATE:

UPDATE: CLEARED LOT NUMBERS AND JULIAN DATES

U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) has been able to trace the sampling by U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) of the lots and Julian dates of Nutriom product listed in paragraph three, that were included in the Feb 15, 2014 FSIS recall. FSIS was able to determine that the lots were sampled by AMS and found to be negative for Salmonella.

To date these are the only lot numbers and Julian dates that have been cleared the USDA FSIS.

Only these lot numbers and Julian dates have been cleared and as a result are not considered a food safety issue or apart of Nutriom, LLC's initial or extended voluntary food safety recall.
