III. Pursuant to cited authority and effective March 29, 1998, the title of the Procurement Corporate Information Management (CIM) (DCMC-AC) is changed to the Defense Procurement Systems Office (DPSO) (DCMC-AC). The Chief, DPSO is staff advisor and assistant to the Commander, DCMC, responsible for management of life cycle development and deployment of the DoD Standard Procurement System (SPS) and Shared Data Warehouse (SDW) Automated Information Systems. This office manages the use of standard data within the SPS and SDW, and manages the DCMC Information Resources Management initiatives. DCMC-AC is comprised of five teams:

A. Applications and Data Integration Team (DCMC-ACA), responsible for monitoring the performance of contractors and central design activities to ensure timely delivery of products and product support, and for identification of cross-functional information exchange, data standards, and data architecture requirements for deployment of SPS.

B. Acquisition Management Processes Team (DCMC-ACB), responsible for program control, budget and execution, life cycle management, personnel management, management of the Program Management Office equipment and resources and facilitation of needs and requirements development by functional sponsors.

C. Contract Management Team (DCMC-ACC), responsible for monitoring the performance of contractors to ensure timely delivery of products and product support. Project management will focus on project accomplishment to cost, schedule and performance objectives against the project baseline.

D. Electronic Commerce and Paperless Acquisition Team (DCMC-ACE), responsible for budgeting, developing, managing and maintaining a coordinated, integrated Electronic Commerce and Paperless Acquisition Initiative program plan.

E. Systems Engineering and Interoperability Team (DCMC-ACI), responsible for providing technical advice, integration and implementation support to other DSPSO teams. The team provides support with the focus on conformance with DISA approved technical standards, systems integration, and security.

IV. Administrative support will continue to be provided by the Defense Automated Printing and Support Center (DAPSC)
