Introduction

The DLA Awards and Recognition Program provides a means to reward employees for working towards and accomplishing DLA goals. Awards both acknowledge employee contributions to DLA’s mission and incentivize behaviors and outcomes that support that mission. The Handbook is envisioned to be an easy-to-use reference for supervisors as they explore opportunities to recognize their employees, as well as a procedural guide for taking specific award actions.

The DLA Awards and Recognition Handbook is designed to supplement, not supersede, existing law, regulation, and policy on awards and recognition, including DoD Instruction 1400.25, volume 451, “DoD Performance Management System: Awards” and DLA Instruction 1432.01, “Defense Logistics Agency Awards and Recognition Program.” In addition, any provision in a collective bargaining agreement (CBA) that conflicts with this handbook will take precedence for employees covered by the applicable CBA.

Awards must be granted consistent with Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Employment Program policies, laws, regulations and Executive Orders that prohibit unlawful discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, reprisal for protected activity, marital status, political affiliation or any other unlawful factor.

Monetary and Time-Off Awards

Performance-Based Awards

A performance-based award (PBA) (previously called a “sustained superior achievement” award) is a lump-sum cash payment based on a performance rating of record (i.e., annual performance appraisal).

Ratings-based awards such as this are to be applied in a way that makes meaningful distinctions based on levels of performance.

Criteria and eligibility

To be eligible for a PBA:

• Any Federal Wage System (FWS) or General Schedule (GS) employee may be considered for this award.
• The employee must have an official rating of record.
• His or her most recent performance rating of record must be at or above the fully successful level.
• Performance should be above that ordinarily expected in the position for at least 90 consecutive days during the rating period.
• The high level of performance must have been at the same grade level unless the employee was demoted during the rating period for reasons other than for cause.
• The performance contribution must not have already been recognized (in whole or in part) with a previous monetary award.
Because PBAs are based on ratings of record, they are not appropriate when solely prompted by the departure of an employee, when prompted by other actions that are correctly recognized by non-rating award types, or when prompted by an employee’s pay rate being subject to legal limitations or pay caps.

Award amount
PBA amounts must be managed so that the awards recognize and distinguish performance quality. The rationale and/or justification used for differentiating amounts must be maintained by the requesting organization and available for inspection. Element rating levels and narratives imbedded in ratings of record may serve as justification if they effectively differentiate levels of performance.

In most cases, a PBA may not exceed 10 percent of the employee's annual rate of basic pay. If in doubt, please check with your servicing DLA Human Resources Services, DLA Customers office (hereafter referred to as DHRS) for case-by-case clarification on the “rate of basic pay.” A PBA may exceed 10 percent of the employee’s annual rate of basic pay if the DLA Director determines that the employee’s exceptional performance merits it. In such cases, the DLA Director may authorize an award of up to 20 percent of the employee’s annual rate of basic pay.

Submission
At the end of each performance cycle, the “Performance Awards Tool” (PAT) is used to submit and approve ratings of record and PBAs. Organizations populate the PAT with PBA amounts for each employee to be recognized. Once approved by the appropriate management official (see approval section below), the PAT is sent to DHRS by an individual officially designated to do so. PATs are processed all together, and they result in Standard Form (SF) 50 personnel actions and electronically paid awards.

Approval
If $7,500 or less, PBAs are documented in the PAT and must be approved by:
- Commanders, senior executive service (SES) directors, or deputy commanders for PLFAs.
- SES or general/flag officers for DLA Headquarters J code organizations and DLA General Counsel.
- The DLA Chief of Staff for DLA Installation Support and DLA Headquarters staff organizations.

If more than $7,500, or if greater than 10% of the employee’s annual rate of basic pay, special processing is required through DLA Human Resources and approval must come from the DLA Director or higher level authority.

Records disposition
The reasoning and/or justification for differing award levels must be filed and retained by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.
Quality Step Increase (QSI) Award

A quality step increase (QSI) is an additional within-grade increase (WGI) used to recognize and reward employees who display outstanding performance as reflected on the most recent rating of record (i.e., annual performance appraisal). A QSI has the effect of moving an employee through the GS pay range faster than by periodic step increases alone.

Criteria and eligibility
To be eligible for a QSI, employees must:
- Be a General Schedule (GS) employee at any grade level;
- Be below step 10 of their grade level;
- Have received the highest rating of record available under the performance management program;
- Have sustained performance of outstanding quality over a period sufficient to conclude that the level is characteristic of the employee’s ongoing performance;
- Not have received a QSI within the preceding 52 consecutive calendar weeks; and
- Occupy a permanent position.

Effective date and timing
A QSI provides the employee the benefit of receiving an additional step increase at an earlier date than he or she originally would have. A QSI does not affect the timing of an employee’s next regular WGI unless the QSI places the employee in step 4 or step 7 of his/her grade. In these cases, while the wait time already served towards the next WGI is not lost, the employee must complete the balance of the wait period for the new step (104 weeks for steps 4-6 or 156 weeks for steps 7-9).

Generally, QSIs should be made effective as soon as practicable after approved, usually at the beginning of the next pay period. Because a QSI must be applied to the rate of pay for the position on which the rating of record was based, particular care must be taken with timing when an employee is changing jobs or serving on (or will soon serve on) a temporary promotion or assignment. The QSI cannot be made effective until the temporary promotion expires or the employee is permanently assigned. DHRS can provide information and advice to assist with timing that maximizes the impact of the award.

Submission
A narrative justification is required for all QSIs and must address the factors in the “Criteria and eligibility” section above. At the end of the performance cycle, a “Performance Awards Tool” (PAT) is used to submit and approve ratings of record and QSIs. Organizations access the PAT and annotate which employees are to be recognized with QSIs. Once approved by the appropriate management official (see approval section below), the PAT is submitted to DHRS by an individual officially designated to do so. If timing is important (as discussed in “Effective date and timing” above), clearly communicate the intended timing directly to the DHRS specialist who will process the action.

Approval
QSIs are documented in the PAT and must be approved by:
- Commanders, senior executive service (SES) directors, or deputy commanders for PLFAs.
- SES or general/flag officers for DLA Headquarters J code organizations and DLA General Counsel.
- The DLA Chief of Staff for DLA Installation Support and DLA Headquarters staff organizations.
Records disposition
The required justification and any other supporting documentation for a QSI must be retained on file by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule. Element rating levels and narratives imbedded in the rating of record may serve as justification if they effectively address the criteria.
Special Act or Service (SAS) Award

A special act or service award (SAS) is granted to an employee or a group of employees for specific, non-recurring achievement(s) or a period of exceptional productivity. The amount of an SAS award is commensurate with the value of the contribution to the Government and may be based on tangible and/or intangible benefits. The minimum award amount is $500.

Criteria and eligibility

Nominations for SAS awards must be submitted within 60 days of the contribution or achievement upon which the nomination is based. Both permanent and temporary employees are eligible.

Examples of appropriate achievements or contributions are:

- Identifying an innovative solution to an issue outside an employee's planned work assignments that benefits the organization as a whole.
- Saving significant money for the organization or Government as a whole.
- Using new technologies or methods to greatly improve an organization's (or a Government-wide) product or service.
- Streamlining a process, which helps the organization provide its products and services, or meet its goals, more effectively.
- Directing a team effort with exceptional skill and sensitivity.
- Handling an unforeseen problem with minimal disruption to the overall work assignments.
- Maintaining exceptional productivity during a period.
- Making a non-recurring contribution in the public interest, achieving a scientific advancement, or committing an act of heroism, whether within or outside of job responsibilities.
- Completing an absent co-worker's major assignment with exceptional skill and success so that organizational goals are met.
- Deploying overseas in support of contingency operations (see “Civilian Deployment Awards and Recognition” chapter in this handbook).

The granting of an SAS does not affect the employee’s eligibility for a performance-based award (PBA) unless the PBA is based in whole or in part on the same contribution recognized by the SAS. Likewise, the receipt of a PBA does not affect eligibility for an SAS provided the contribution used to support the PBA is not used either wholly or in part as the basis for an SAS.

Award amount

When submitting an SAS award, the value of the contribution to the Government must be considered and the amount awarded commensurate with the contribution. The award amount may be based on tangible and/or intangible benefits.

When the award is for a group, all members of the group may receive equal shares or the total may be divided in proportion to the individual contributions to the group effort.

In the event a recommended SAS exceeds $7,500 for an individual (whether alone or as part of a group), special processing is required through DLA Human Resources, and approval must come from the DLA Director or higher level authority.
Inter-organizational SAS awards

SAS awards are paid from the awardee’s home organization’s budget. Prior to submitting and processing an award originating outside of the home organization, the senior leader of the originating organization must obtain and document the concurrence of the senior leader of the home organization. For this purpose, “senior leader” is defined as the SES/Flag rank officer who is Commander/Director of a PLFA, the Director of a J code, or the DLA Chief of Staff for Director’s staff organizations.

Submission

To recommend an SAS award, submit the following through activity-level channels to DHRS:
- A “Request for Personnel Action” (SF 52) or other vehicle approved by DHRS, and
- A narrative justification describing specifically and factually the contribution and resultant benefits. When the recommendation is based on measurable tangible benefits, the narrative must show how these benefits were computed. Recommendations based on intangible benefits must identify the value of benefits, the extent of application, and the rationale used for establishing the award amount.

When in doubt about the submission or routing requirements, check with your organization’s Awards Administrator for internal process flow.

The award approval, signed at the level indicated below, may only be submitted to DHRS by an individual officially designated by the organization’s senior leader. DHRS will generate a Personnel Action (SF 50), and the award will be electronically paid.

Approval

Nominations that do not exceed $7,500 may be recommended by the immediate supervisor and approved by an official at least one level above the immediate supervisor (unless the organization requires additional/higher level approval). The director of an organization may sign as both recommending and approving official.

Nominations that exceed $7,500 require special processing through DLA Human Resources, and approval must come from the DLA Director or higher level authority. Requests at this level must be submitted by the heads of the PLFAs or, for DLA Headquarters employees, by a DLA Executive Board member.

Record disposition

A copy of the required justification and any other supporting documentation must be retained on file by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule. An SAS is not a ratings-based award so a rating of record will not normally serve as appropriate documentation.

On-the-Spot (OTS) Award

On-the-spot (OTS) awards are special act or service (SAS) awards within the range of $50-$475. By design, they may be processed quickly to recognize exceptional day-to-day work accomplishments.

Criteria and eligibility
This award recognizes superior day-to-day work accomplishments exceeding normal job requirements but not significant enough in scope to warrant a larger SAS monetary award. Both permanent and temporary employees are eligible.

Examples of appropriate achievements or contributions are:
- Initiating or developing work methods or procedures that improve efficiency rates or lower costs;
- Demonstrating sensitivity and responsive performance that improves relationships or services; or
- Enabling the mission of a unit to be accomplished during difficult or austere periods through personal dedication to duty and/or application of innovative solutions to day-to-day problems.

Inter-organizational OTS awards
OTS awards are paid from the awardee’s home organization’s budget. Prior to submitting and processing an award originating outside of the home organization, the senior leader of the originating organization must obtain and document the concurrence of the senior leader of the home organization. For this purpose, “senior leader” is defined as the SES/Flag rank officer who is Commander/Director of a PLFA, the Director of a J code, or the DLA Chief of Staff for Director’s staff organizations.

Submission
To request an OTS award, submit the following through activity-level channels to DHRS:
- A “Request for Personnel Action” (Form SF 52) or other vehicle approved by DHRS, and
- A brief narrative description addressing the reasons for recommending the award.

When in doubt about the submission or routing requirements, check with your organization’s Awards Administrator for internal process flow.

The award approval, approved at the level indicated below, may only be submitted to DHRS by an individual officially designated by the organization’s senior leader. DHRS will generate a Personnel Action (SF 50), and the award will be electronically paid.

Approval
Nominations may be recommended by the immediate supervisor and approved by an official at least one level above the immediate supervisor (unless the organization requires additional/higher level approval). The director of an organization may sign as both recommending and approving official for OTS awards.

Records disposition
A copy of the required justification and any other supporting documentation must be retained on file by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.

Time-Off Award

A Time-Off Award (TOA) is time off from duty without loss of pay or charges to leave, granted to a civilian employee or team as a form of incentive or recognition. The amount of the award must be commensurate with the value of the contribution.

Criteria and eligibility

Most civilian employees (as defined in 5 U.S.C. 2105) are eligible to receive TOAs. They may be granted to individuals or members of a group for:

- A suggestion, invention, superior accomplishment, productivity gain, or other personal effort that contributes to the efficiency, economy, or other improvement of Government operations or achieves a significant reduction in paperwork; or
- A special act or service in the public interest in connection with or related to official employment.

Although a TOA may be used to acknowledge accomplishments and high quality contributions, it is not intended as recognition of sustained high-level performance or as a wholesale replacement for monetary performance awards. TOAs may be used in combination with cash or honorary awards as long as the total value of the awards given is commensurate with the contribution being recognized.

When group contributions are recognized through a TOA, all group members typically will be granted the same amount of time off. However, members of the recognized group may be granted TOAs of varying duration if the difference in individual contribution levels is clearly supported by the narrative justification.

A TOA must be scheduled and used within one year of the effective date. If the TOA is not used during this time period, it will expire.

TOAs may not be converted to cash under any circumstances, and they may not be transferred between agencies. An effort should be made to ensure that the employee is able to use the award before he or she leaves DLA. TOAs should be scheduled and used so as not to adversely affect organizational productivity or an employee who is in an annual leave “use or lose” status.

Award amount

The maximum amount of time off granted to an individual for a single contribution is 40 hours. The minimum award is 4 hours or one-half workday. For purposes of this calculation, one workday equates to the number of hours scheduled for work on an approved day off. The total amount of time off which may be granted to an employee in any one leave year is 80 hours.

Civilian deployment

DLA civilian employees who deploy in contingency support (or similar) groups are entitled to receive a TOA upon completion of a deployment of 90 consecutive days or more. This provides time to take care of personal and professional matters that were deferred while deployed. Time off after deployment will normally begin as soon as possible, often within 72 hours following return to home station. Civilian employees will be granted 40 hours of time off after deployment in support of DLA or DoD activities.
Inter-organizational TOAs

TOAs impact the awardee’s home organization. Prior to submitting and processing an award originating outside of the home organization, the senior leader of the originating organization must obtain and document the concurrence of the senior leader of the home organization. For this purpose, “senior leader” is defined as the SES/Flag rank officer who is Commander/Director of a PLFA, the Director of a J code, or the DLA Chief of Staff for Director’s staff organizations.

Submission as part of the annual performance cycle

At the end of each performance cycle, the “Performance Awards Tool” (PAT) is used to submit and approve ratings of record and associated awards. Organizations populate the PAT with the number of TOA hours. Once approved by the appropriate management official, the PAT is sent to the DHRS office by an individual officially designated to do so. PATs are processed all together, and they result in SF 50 personnel actions and electronically paid awards. A narrative justification must be completed for this award; however, when based on an annual appraisal, element rating levels and narratives imbedded in the rating of record may serve as justification if they effectively differentiate performance levels.

Submission outside the annual performance cycle

To request a TOA award, submit the following through activity-level channels to DHRS:

- A “Request for Personnel Action” (Form SF 52) or other vehicle approved by DHRS, and
- A narrative justification addressing the reasons for recommending the award (see “Criteria and eligibility” above).

The award approval, signed at the level indicated in the appropriate section below, may only be submitted to DHRS by an individual officially designated by the organization’s senior leader. DHRS will generate a Personnel Action (SF 50) for each individual, and the award will be electronically paid.

Approval of individual and team/group

Nominations are made by the immediate supervisor and approved by an official at least one level above the immediate supervisor. The director of an organization may sign as both recommending and approving official.

Approval for an entire organization/work unit

A TOA for an entire organization (e.g., J code, directorate, or PLFA), must be approved by the PLFA commander or J code Director of the requesting activity, defined as follows:

- Commanders, senior executive service (SES) directors, or deputy commanders for PLFAs.
- SES or general/flag officers for DLA Headquarters J code organizations and DLA General Counsel.
- The DLA Chief of Staff for DLA Installation Support and DLA Headquarters staff organizations.

Records disposition

The justification and other supporting documentation for the award must be retained on file by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.
Civilian Deployment Awards and Recognition

As forward deployed representatives of DLA, this award recognizes those DLA employees who have successfully completed a forward deployment in support of contingency operations.

Criteria and eligibility
A civilian employee who is deployed overseas in support of contingency operations and who contributes to mission shall be awarded a Special Act or Service (SAS) award and a Time-Off Award (TOA) by his or her organization. For these purposes, deployment is defined as Request for Forces, Joint Individual Augmentee, and Title 10 tours.

Award amounts
Special Act or Service (SAS) –
$3,500 for a successful six month deployment in support of contingency operations. “Successful” is defined as fully and consistently meeting the expectations established by the in-theater supervisor. Performance is of good quality, and the employee produces the expected quantity of work with normal supervision.

$7,500 for an exceptional six month deployment in support of contingency operations. “Exceptional” is distinguished by demonstrated initiative; creative problem solving; or consistently produced work of extraordinary quality and quantity significantly ahead of established schedules or deadlines with very little supervision. The employee voluntarily completes assignments outside of the scope of his or her assigned duties and performs them at a sufficiently high level that does not sacrifice quality, quantity, or timeliness.

Award amounts are prorated for deployments less than six months (e.g. for a three month deployment, the amounts listed above would be reduced by one half). Any deployment orders scheduled less than the typical 179 days will result in amounts being prorated.

Time-Off Award (TOA) –
DLA civilian contingency support employees are entitled to receive a TOA of 40 hours upon successful completion of a contingency deployment of 90 consecutive days or more. See the Time-Off Award section in this handbook for more information.

Submission
The deployed employee’s home supervisor of record or Force Provider office is responsible for award submission. Funding for the award will be provided by the employee’s activity of record.

To request an SAS Award and TOA for civilian deployment, submit the following to the servicing DHRS office:

- A “Request for Personnel Action” (Form SF 52) or other vehicle approved by DHRS, submitted by the home supervisor of record or Force Provider office, and
- A standard performance feedback form (if available) and narrative justification provided by the in-theater supervisor, the home supervisor of record, or the Force Provider office.

The award approval, signed at the level indicated below, may only be submitted to DHRS by an individual officially designated by the organization’s senior leader. DHRS will generate a Personnel Action (SF 50), and the award will be electronically paid.
Approval
The in-theater supervisor, home supervisor of record, Regional Commander or Force Provider may approve the award.

Records disposition
The justification and other supporting documentation for these awards must be retained on file by the employee’s activity of record in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.

For additional information and forms, visit the Civilian Expeditionary Workforce page under “Policies” at https://eworkplace.dla.mil/sites/S8/Pages/CivilianExpeditionaryWorkforce.aspx.
DLA Humanitarian Effort Award

The DLA Humanitarian Effort Award recognizes the contributions and accomplishments of DLA civilian employees who directly support peacekeeping or prolonged humanitarian operations either within the continental United States or outside the continental United States. The award demonstrates the value DLA places on the service of its workforce and the importance of the Agency’s contribution in accomplishing the nation’s objectives.

This award includes a DLA Humanitarian Service medal and certificate. For Category 1 and 2 awards (defined below), it also includes a cash award.

This award does not preclude employees from receiving the Armed Forces Civilian Service medal.

Criteria and eligibility

DLA civilian employees who provide support on operations of peacekeeping or prolonged humanitarian efforts, whether physically located at the event or from a location other than the area of eligibility, are eligible for this award.

(In accordance with DoDI 1400.25, volume 451, contractor personnel are not eligible to receive recognition unless the contribution is unrelated to and completely outside the terms of the contract and the recognition is clearly in the public interest. In such cases, recognition is limited to a letter or a certificate of appreciation.)

For Category 1 and 2 awards, employees must be engaged in direct support for 30 consecutive days (or for the full period when an operation lasts less than 30 days).

- Direct support is defined as support provided in the area of eligibility or support to the area of eligibility from a location other than the area of eligibility. The area of eligibility is defined as the location where the man-made or natural disaster took place.
- The Operational Lead for each particular DLA Humanitarian Effort will determine any exceptions or modifications to this definition of the area of eligibility.

Other parameters –

- No more than one DLA medal may be awarded to any one civilian employee for the same humanitarian effort.
- The Humanitarian Effort Award may be awarded posthumously and presented to such representative of the deceased as may be deemed appropriate by the DLA Director.
- The awarding of the DLA Humanitarian medal will not be retroactive but employees will receive the award once the award package has been approved.

Award Amounts

- Category 1: An award of $2,000, a medal, and a certificate may be given to employees physically located and providing substantial and direct support to the humanitarian effort for 30 consecutive days in the area of eligibility (or for the full period when an operation lasts less than 30 days).
- Category 2: An award of $750, a medal, and a certificate may be given to employees providing substantial and direct support, beyond the scope of their regular duties, to the humanitarian effort from a location other than the area of eligibility for 30 consecutive days (or for the full period when an operation lasts less than 30 days). The alternate location may be the employee’s official worksite.
• Category 3: An award consisting of a certificate and medal may be given to employees actively engaged in workload that significantly supports the humanitarian effort (e.g., filling in for an employee who has been deployed) but does not meet the substantial and direct level of support outlined in the categories above. The alternate location may be the employee’s official worksite.

Submission and Approval
To request a DLA Humanitarian Effort Award, activity Commanders, J Code Directors, or the DLA Chief of Staff must submit the following –

- A DLA Form 38 or other vehicle approved by DHRS (such as a CAC signed awards spreadsheet template).
- A justification, including dates and location of qualifying event.
- Copies of official orders or a statement signed by the authorizing commander to reflect that eligibility has been met. The commander’s statement must include the name, inclusive dates, location of qualifying event, how long the individual was present, and a list of support/duties performed.

Submit the award package to the J1 Honorary Awards Program Manager. Upon approval by the DLA Director, the package for civilian employees will be forwarded to DHRS to process the monetary portion of the award(s) and add to the employee’s electronic official personnel file.

Records disposition
The justification and other supporting documentation for these awards must be retained on file by the employee’s activity of record in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.
Invention Award

Invention awards are monetary awards granted to one or more civilian or military personnel for inventions that are of interest to DLA and for which patent coverage is sought or granted.

Criteria and Eligibility

A monetary award may be considered if the invention either (1) contributes to the efficiency, economy, or other improvement in Government operations; or (2) is in the public interest and is associated with the employee’s official employment. Even though the making of an invention is considered to be within an employee’s official duties, the inventor may be considered for cash and honorary recognition.

The disclosure of an invention in a publication, or public use of an invention, or the sale of an article embodying the invention, for more than one year before the filing of a patent application thereon constitutes a statutory bar to the issuance of a valid United States Letters Patent. Therefore, to protect the interests of the originator and the Government, it is important that a suggestion or contribution which appears to be patentable be submitted promptly to allow ample time for patent processing.

Invention awards are not authorized if a cash award has been paid for the same contribution as a suggestion; however, in cases where a suggestion award has totaled less than the amounts payable under the Invention Award, the employee or member may be awarded the difference.

DLA General Counsel will review contributions for possible patent consideration at the request of the inventor or when patent consideration is recommended by the evaluating official. DLA General Counsel makes the determination of rights in inventions and whether the invention will be processed for patenting by DLA.

Award Amounts

DLA personnel whose invention disclosures are received by an activity incentive awards coordinator or committee will be eligible for an initial award of $100 upon advice of DLA General Counsel that the conditions for the Preparation of Patent Application found in A Guide to Filing a Design Patent Application have been met.

When two or more eligible persons are co-inventors, each will receive an initial award of $100. Any additional award will be divided equally.

The inventor(s) may be considered for an additional award of $300 upon notification that the patent covering the invention has been issued. If an employee’s application for patent is placed under a secrecy order, he or she will become eligible for the additional award of $300 when a Notice of Allowability of the application is issued.

When the actual value of the invention can be determined, any additional award may be based on the savings accruing during the first year after the patent was issued. If the calculation or estimate of benefits to the Government does not fairly reflect the later years’ benefits, consideration may be given to either an averaging of actual benefits during several years or using a more representative year, e.g., the benefits in the second or third year following use of the invention. When an additional award is granted, the amount of the award will be reduced by the amount of any awards previously granted.
Submission and Approval

To nominate for an Invention Award, submit the following through activity-level channels to the Office of the General Counsel for evaluation and endorsement:

- A “Request for Personnel Action” (Form SF 52) or other vehicle approved by DHRS, and
- A narrative justification and appropriate documentation of the invention and its usability.

The nomination must be signed by the immediate supervisor and an official at least one level above the immediate supervisor.

If endorsed by DLA Office of General Counsel, the nomination is forwarded to the J1 Honorary Awards Program Manager, who will complete the coordination process for the award and send the completed approval to DHRS for generating a Personnel Action (SF 50) to pay the award electronically.

Records Disposition

The justification and other supporting documentation for award must be retained on file by the requesting office in accordance with the DLA Records Disposition Schedule.
Honorary Awards

DLA Exceptional Civilian Service Award

This is the highest DLA honorary award. It is granted by the DLA Director to those civilian employees who have distinguished themselves by exceptional service or contributions of the broadest scope to DLA or DoD as a whole. The award consists of a gold and silver medal, a lapel button, and a certificate signed by the DLA Director.

Criteria and eligibility

This award may be granted for contributions such as, but not limited to, the following:

- Accomplishment of assigned duties in such a preeminent manner as to have been clearly exceptional among all persons who have performed similar duties;
- Development or improvement of methods and procedures or inventions which accomplish extraordinary results in the advancement of DLA, DoD, or Government operations;

RETURN TO TABLE OF CONTENTS
A broad variety of gifts, awards, and paraphernalia may be appropriate for acknowledging an honorable retirement or farewell. Consideration should be given to the employee’s preference for public or private settings. Decisions regarding ceremonies and events are to be made on an equitable basis across the workforce and not be based on the grade or rank of the individuals involved.

Gifts
The Joint Ethics Regulation (DoD 5500.7-R) sets forth DoD policy on gifts. The standard rules governing gifts apply. Government funds may not be used to purchase gifts; however, private contributions may be used. Some examples of “gift” items include flowers, paper weights, and flags (civilian), as well as “display” items such as shadow boxes and display cases. Consult a DLA General Counsel ethics counselor with any questions regarding these provisions.

Rules for gift giving from a group are as follows (note: dollar amounts are subject to change):

- A gift certificate may be given as long as it is not redeemable for cash.
- Fellow employees may be solicited for voluntary contributions of nominal amounts.
- If even one member of the donating group is a subordinate of the recipient, the aggregate market value of a group gift may not exceed $300, regardless of the number of military and/or civilian employees contributing.
- There is no limit on the number of donating groups that may give a retirement gift. However, the number should be based on common sense and reasonableness. Also, donating groups may not “pool” their money to buy a gift over the $300 limit. For example, it is not permissible for two donating groups each with $250 to combine their money and buy a $500 gift.
- The “nominal amount” of any voluntary contribution that may be solicited from an employee for a group gift should not exceed $10.
- An employee may contribute to a group gift and may also give an individual gift, so long as the giving of both of these gifts is “appropriate to the occasion,” i.e., the total amount spent is reasonable under the circumstances.
- The voluntary nature of any contribution must be made clear in any solicitation so that each employee understands that he or she may contribute nothing at all, or any amount that he or she desires up to $10. Senior personnel may not pressure subordinates or junior personnel to make contributions.
- A nominal amount for refreshments may be solicited as a separate, voluntary contribution not subject to the $10 limit. For example, it is permissible to solicit $10 for the retirement gift and an additional $2 to help pay for the cost of refreshments.
- Contributions cannot be solicited from “prohibited sources” (agency contractors or their employees). However, unsolicited contractor gifts are permissible. Note that they are subject to the $20/$50 rule.
Awards, plaques, and ceremony supplies
Official retirement and other farewell ceremonies that are inherent in the award process are permitted. Government funds may be used to purchase awards and ceremony supplies. For civilian employees, the awards must be made in accordance with the 5 U.S.C. 4501-4506 and for military members per 10 U.S.C. 1124 and 1125.

DLA Awards for Achievement in Equal Employment Opportunity

Secretary of Defense Medal for the Defense of Freedom

The Defense of Freedom Medal was established on September 27, 2001, to honor civilian employees injured or killed in the line of duty. It is the civilian equivalent of the military’s Purple Heart. The first recipients were those civilians injured or killed as a result of the terrorist attack on the Pentagon on September 11, 2001.

The medal is a golden circle framing a bald eagle holding a shield which exemplifies the principles of freedom and the defense of those freedoms upon which our nation is founded. The reverse of the medal is inscribed with "On Behalf of a Grateful Nation" with a space for the recipient's name to be inscribed. The laurel wreath represents honor and high achievement. The ribbon is red, white, and blue commemorating valor and sacrifice, strength, and liberty. The four red stripes represent the terrorist attacks using hijacked airplanes and the single blue stripe represents the terrorist attack on the Pentagon on September 11, 2001.

Criteria and eligibility
The medal shall be awarded to any DOD civilian employee meeting the definition of “employee” in accordance with Title 5, United States Code, Chapter 21, who were killed or wounded during the performance of their official duties and is to be awarded to recognize future sacrifices of DoD employees. The Secretary of Defense re-delegates the authority to approve this medal to non-Defense personnel who are otherwise qualified to be awarded the medal based on their involvement in DOD activities to the Component heads.

Eligibility criteria for the medal are aligned as closely as possible to those for the Purple Heart for members of the Armed Forces. The medal is not "recommended," but is an entitlement if an employee is eligible and if the conditions or criteria for the award are present. Armed Forces Civilian Service Medal (AFCSM)

The AFCSM recognizes the contributions and accomplishments of the DOD civilian workforce who directly support the armed forces, when those members are engaged in designated military operations of peacekeeping or prolonged humanitarian nature. The medal symbolizes the importance DOD attaches to civilian service during military operations and its value in accomplishing the nation’s objectives.

The medal is bronze and bears a demi-torch (as on the Statue of Liberty) on a burst of rays encircled at the top by a scroll inscribed “Supporting Freedom” and all enclosed by a laurel wreath. On the reverse, three crossed arrows point up with the inscription “Armed Forces Civilian Service Medal.” The medal is suspended from a ribbon of green, medium blue, and gold. There is a corresponding lapel pin.

Eligibility

The medal is awarded only to civilian employees of DoD, including non-appropriated fund employees, who, after June 1, 1992, participated in direct support of a United States military operation for which military personnel have been awarded the Armed Forces Service Medal (AFSM). The AFCSM may be awarded only for a military operation approved for award of the AFSM for military personnel.

Employees must be engaged in direct support for 30 consecutive days in the area of eligibility (or for the full period when an operation is of less than 30 days duration) in a military operation awarded the AFSM or for 60 non-consecutive days in an AFSM operation provided this support involves the employee entering the area(s) of eligibility. “Direct support” is defined as services provided to participating military activities or armed forces in a military operation awarded the AFSM only if the employee actually enters the designated area of eligibility.

The areas(s) of eligibility are the same as designated for approved AFSM military operations, i.e., 1) the foreign territory on which military troops have actually landed or are present and specifically deployed for the operation; 2) adjacent water areas in which ships are operating, patrolling, or providing direct support of the operation; and 3) the air space above and adjacent to the area in which operations are being conducted.

The AFCSM is a “theater” award and is authorized for all civilian employees who meet the eligibility requirements as described above. Award of the AFCSM does not preclude granting of other awards if the employee’s contribution to the designated operation is so significant or extraordinary as to merit additional recognition.

No more than one medal may be awarded to any one civilian employee. Participation in subsequent military operations may be acknowledged with a certificate and/or a 3/16 inch bronze star. A contribution to or support of an AFSM military operation by employees assigned to remotely located activities, e.g., outside the areas of eligibility, is not justification for award of the AFCSM. Such performance or contribution, if merited, may be acknowledged by other appropriate recognition.

The AFCSM may be awarded posthumously and, when awarded, may be presented to such representative of the deceased as may be deemed appropriate by the head of the component concerned.

Please make sure information on inclusive dates and location of qualifying service is on the form. Secretary of Defense Medal for the Global War on Terrorism (GWOT)

The Global War on Terrorism Medal, commonly known as the “GWOT Medal,” recognizes the contributions and accomplishments of the DOD civilian workforce in directly supporting the armed forces, whose members are engaged in operations to combat terrorism in all forms throughout the world. The medal symbolizes the importance DOD places on the service of its civilian workforce to military operations and the value of its contribution in accomplishing the Nation’s objectives.

The medal is bronze, bearing a statue of freedom representing the ultimate goal of operations in support of the Global War on Terrorism. Laurel branches symbolize honor and achievement. The five stars allude to the military services, and the triangle, which is the traditional symbol of civilian service, denotes support. Spears enclose and defend “Freedom” and allude to support for military service. On the reverse, the disc represents a globe, with arrowheads suggesting that danger and terrorism may develop anywhere. The polestar is an ancient symbol of navigation denoting direction, preparation, and planning. The ribbon is medium blue, gold, black and red, white, and blue. The medium blue is associated with DOD. Gold represents excellence and achievement. Black and red symbolize the threat and danger of terrorism. Red, white, and blue, our national colors, are for patriotism and the love of freedom.

Criteria and eligibility

This medal may be awarded only to civilian employees of DOD, including non-appropriated fund employees, who, on or after September 11, 2001, participate abroad in direct support of a United States military GWOT operation in a location defined as a combat zone. The medal may not be awarded to contractor personnel. The GWOT medal criteria are aligned as closely as practicable with that of the Global War on Terrorism Expeditionary Medal (GWOTEM) awarded to members of the armed forces. Personnel who work (or whose duty station is located) in the United States are not eligible for this medal. To be eligible, the employee must actually enter the designated area of eligibility.

Employees must be engaged in direct support for 30 consecutive days in a combat zone in an area of eligibility (or for the full period when an operation is of less than 30 days duration) in a military operation awarded the GWOTEM or for 60 non-consecutive days in a combat zone provided this support involves the employee entering the area(s) of eligibility or, regardless of time, be killed or medically evacuated from the area of eligibility while providing direct support in the designated operation.

The areas of eligibility are the same as designated for approved GWOTEM military operations, i.e.,
- The foreign territory on which military troops have actually landed or are present and specifically deployed for the operation;
- The adjacent water areas in which ships are operating, patrolling, or providing direct support of the operation; and
- The air space above and adjacent to the area in which operations are being conducted.

The GWOT is a “theater” award and is authorized for all civilian employees who meet the eligibility requirements as described above.

The medal may be awarded only once to a civilian employee for service to a GWOT military operation. An employee may not be awarded both the GWOT Medal and the Armed Forces Civilian Service Medal for the same operation. A contribution to or support of a GWOT military operation by employees assigned to remotely located activities, e.g., outside the areas of eligibility, is not justification for award of the GWOT Medal. Such performance or contribution, if merited, may be acknowledged by other appropriate recognition.

The GWOT Medal may be awarded posthumously and, when awarded, may be presented to such representative of the deceased as may be deemed appropriate by the head of the component concerned.

Submission
Submit the GWOT award package to the J1 Honorary Awards Program Manager including a DLA Form 38, along with a justification, travel orders, or statement signed by the authorizing commander. Information must include inclusive dates and location of qualifying service. In addition, copies of official orders or a statement signed by the authorizing commander may be used to demonstrate eligibility has been met.

Approval
This award may be approved by:

- Commanders, senior executive service (SES) directors, or deputy commanders for PLFAs;
- SES or general/flag officers for DLA Headquarters J code organizations and DLA General Counsel; and
- The DLA Chief of Staff for DLA Installation Support and DLA Headquarters staff organizations.
Under DLA DTM 14-005, PLFA Commanders, J code Directors (for their operationalized activities), and the DLA Chief of Staff for DLA Headquarters Complex organizations may establish, in their local awards programs, a way to recognize employees for significant accomplishments that enhance workplace safety and occupational health.

These awards may be established under a Voluntary Protection Program (VPP) or under a traditional local awards and recognition program. Where more than one DLA activity is co-located, DLA leaders should partner and collaborate to establish a single safety awards program that covers all DLA employees at that site. This is both for efficiency’s sake and in the spirit of “We Are DLA.” Also, where applicable, Commanders and Directors should engage with local labor unions in the development and promotion of local safety awards.

Local safety awards programs must include the process to identify and reward safety-focused activities and the process to award employees or teams. Programs may include peer-based nominations. At a minimum, local safety/VPP award programs must include the following:

- Award Eligibility: DLA employees or teams who have improved occupational safety and health at their activity are eligible.

- Award Submission: Immediate supervisors will submit the justification and must address the reasons for recommending the award.

- Award Approval: Awards will be approved by PLFA Commanders, the DLA Chief of Staff, J/D code Directors, or their designees.

Local safety awards programs may include Safety Bucks. Safety Bucks are non-monetary awards of nominal value (less than $25.00) given to recognize employees for significant achievements that enhance workplace safety. Safety Bucks may be exchanged for merchandise of nominal value in a Safety Buck Store. Examples of merchandise of nominal value include, but are not limited to: pens, flashlights, sun glasses, T-shirts, umbrellas, mugs, water bottles, first aid kits, backpacks, coasters, plaques, books, etc. These types of merchandise are permissible provided there are strict guidelines providing for proper auditability and accountability of the funds and items from date of purchase to date of award to the employee.

Four requirements must be met when issuing non-monetary awards:

- The item should be of nominal value and not be something that expresses monetary value;
- the item should have lasting value;
- the item should convey the employer-employee relationship; and
- the item should not jeopardize the legitimacy of the program.

Prior to finalizing local safety awards programs, DLA activities must coordinate with DLA Human Resources Policy (J14).
