

DLA Distribution Pearl Harbor, Hawaii

Commander Raymond “Joey” Lanclos

Commander

Navy Cmdr. Raymond “Joey” Lanclos is a native of Killeen, Texas and assumed command of DLA Distribution Pearl Harbor, Hawaii on May 30, 2025.

Lanclos earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in International Management at Texas A&M University, and was commissioned through Officer Candidate School. He is a graduate of Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California, earning his Master’s in Business Administration in Acquisition & Contract Management and was also awarded the Naval Supply Systems Command Award for Academic Excellence in Management.

Lanclos is a Joint Qualified Officer, a certified Contracting Professional and a member of the Defense Acquisition Corps.

Afloat operational tours include Division Officer, USS CURTS; Assistant Logistics Officer, 30th Naval Construction Regiment; Supply Officer, Naval Mobile Construction Battalion Five; Naval Logistics Advisor, Multi-National Security Transition Command-Iraq; and Commander, DLA Support Team-East Africa.

Shore tours include Logistics Officer, Naval Special Warfare Basic Training Command; Operational Contract Support, Naval Supply Systems Command; Director, Subs & Carriers Contracting, NAVSUP Weapon Systems Support; Deputy Chief, Procure-to-Pay Process Cycle Integration and Technical & Quality Assurance, Defense Logistics Agency; and Director, Regional Contracting, NAVSUP Fleet Logistics Center – San Diego.

Lanclos is a qualified Surface Warfare Supply Corps Officer and Navy Expeditionary Supply Corps Officer. Awards include the Bronze Star, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal (Two), Navy Commendation Medal (Two), Joint Service Achievement Medal (Two), and Navy Achievement Medal (Two).

