A MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDER

Brig Gen Jimmy Canlas

Team Energy,

This week we say a fond farewell to a great leader and professional, our DLA Energy Deputy Commander Mr. William "Eric" Smith. Mr. Smith was selected by VADM Skubic to serve as the DLA Chief of Staff. I know he will excel in his new role, and we will benefit having Energy advocacy on the HQ staff.

It has been my sincere honor to serve with Mr. Smith. As a new Commander, I was blessed with Mr. Smith who supported me during my first several months as I assumed my new role in the height of COVID. We will miss Eric and his extensive DLA experience, sage wisdom, and straight-forward approach to hard challenges. I want to acknowledge the tremendous work he has dedicated to improving the Energy culture with his emphasis on leadership development. From his monthly leadership nuggets to monthly Donuts with Deputies, Mr. Smith profoundly influenced us with his steadfast leadership.

As Mr. Smith departs, Ms. Patricia Wilkins will step in as the Interim Deputy Commander.

Eric, thank you for all you have done for our organization, and we look forward to Patricia continuing on with our progress. Warfighter Always!

Shadow a DLA Energy Leader!

The DLA Energy Virtual Shadow Program for DLA Energy employees is a unique opportunity to shadow a leader and gain valuable experience.

Shadow experiences are designed to provide participants with professional development opportunities, professional networks, meaningful career conversations, exposure to leadership at multiple levels, and a broader understanding of DLA Energy.

Participants are not the only ones to benefit from the Shadow Program. DLA Energy leaders benefit by fostering a coaching culture and increase transparency of Energy's business strategies.

Bulk Petroleum Products' Callie Ettleson Lake shadowed Kevin Ahern in February 2018 when Ahern was Acting Director of Procurement Process Support.

"I chose to shadow the Procurement Process Support Division in hopes that it would give me a bigger picture of what is happening in the acquisition community at DLA Energy," Lake said. She said her goal was to get a better idea of what our senior leaders deal with on a day-to-day basis to help her understand how her role fits into the organization.

"It not only helped me understand the workload that senior leaders in our organization manage every day, but it also gave me insight into whether I could see myself in that position in the future," she said.

Chris Boeding, DLA Energy Japan Deputy Director, participated in the program in 2018 when he was in Bulk Petroleum Products and Keisha High, a member of the military personnel team within the Manpower Division, participated in August 2019.

"It gave me a perspective of how everything comes together," High said. "I don't work directly with fuel, therefore, learning about the places we service and potential problems we may face getting fuel where it needs to be to support the Warfighter was insightful."

Applications for the virtual version of the shadow program can be submitted through your chain of command and emailed to the SCG. Read this DLA Today Announcement for more information.
