DLAD Proc Notes & TQ Requirements

- The Defense Logistics Acquisition Directive (DLAD) was revised, focusing on removal of duplicative and redundant regulations and unproductive requirements on industry
- Information previously contained in DLAD provisions and clauses may now appear in either Procurement Notes or Technical and Quality Requirements

DLAD Proc Notes & TQ Requirements

- Procurement Notes contain instructions to offerors and evaluation criteria
 - Appear in applicable uniform contract format (UCF) sections of the solicitation or contract along with standard FAR/DFARS/DLAD Clauses
 - May also appear separate from the FAR/DFARS/DLAD clauses in Section B, as added by the buyer
 - Identified by a three-character code, beginning with the applicable UCF letter
e.g., C01, C03
- Technical and Quality Requirements contain technical, quality, and packaging requirements
 - Appear in the procurement item description (PID) of Section B
 - Identified by a five-character code, beginning with an I or R e.g., IP027, RP001

DLAD Proc Notes & TQ Requirements

- Procurement Notes and Technical/Quality Requirements are typically incorporated by reference in solicitations and awards, unless they require fill-in(s), in which case they will be incorporated as full-text
 - Incorporated by Reference:
 - “E01 Supplemental First Article Exhibit Disposition –Contractor Maintained (SEP 2016)”
 - Incorporated in Full-Text:

 - (1) For FAT requirements, the Government will conduct inspection at source and acceptance at destination. The FOB point is destination. Due to known systems limitations, solicitations may contain erroneous inspection, acceptance, and FOB points; and this procurement note takes precedence over any conflicting terms.

 - (a) ____ Days: To Deliver FAT Report to the Government
 - (b) ____ Days: Government FAT Report Evaluation and Notification to Contractor
