

Hall of Fame Inductees

BENJAMIN GOODMAN USA

Is inducted into the Defense Industrial Supply Center Hall of Fame this twelfth day of December 1997 for his extraordinary leadership and support as a Supervisory Supply Systems Analyst in the Office of Planning and Management and for his continuous outstanding mission support throughout his tenure at DISC from 1953 to 1983. Mr. Goodman was involved in an array of innovative programs, including the standardization of defense stock numbers among all military services, and the development of a uniform material movement and issue system throughout the Department of Defense. He also developed and implemented the Review and Analysis process at DISC which has key performance indicators identified that enable management and Command to track DISC performance.
