

Hall of Fame Inductees

JAMES D. NICOLO

Is being inducted into the Defense Supply Center Philadelphia Hall of Fame for his continuous outstanding mission support. His innovative solutions to complex engineering issues involving replenishment parts have resulted in substantial cost savings. Mr. Nicolo's standardization and productivity improvements for military fastener specifications involved over 250,000 different parts used in military equipment. His achievements in specification reform significantly improved product quality and delivery times. He developed an economic and time-efficient means for accomplishing product test and evaluation. This is only one of the many engineering successes that typify and distinguish Mr. Nicolo's exemplary career. He has consistently earned the praise and respect of his superiors and colleagues in industry and government. His accomplishments continue to serve the Agency and the entire logistics support community.