

Hall of Fame Inductees

PAUL AMATO

is inducted into the Defense Supply Center Philadelphia Hall of Fame this eighth day of November 2006 for his continuous outstanding mission support from 1972 through 2003. During his 31 years of Federal service, Mr. Amato was one of our Nation's true unsung heroes. He served our Nation during times of war and peace with duty and honor for his country. Throughout his distinguished career, he personified the definition of a leader through his immeasurable contributions. He was responsible for providing the highest quality of Subsistence support to the Nation's military and their families stationed around the globe. While serving as the Deputy Director of Subsistence, Mr. Amato recognized and tirelessly supported the initial fielding of the concept demo for Business Systems Modernization. His services exemplified a career commitment to DSCP and were performed and conducted as an affair of the heart. Mr. Amato is a true leader, manager, and people person. He demonstrated a genuine interest in making his employees lives better. He has contributed much of his self to the organization and personally given his time, hard work and knowledge to his country.
