BACKGROUND: Kind is voluntarily recalling some of its granola pouches that were sold throughout retail stores and online after discovering that they were improperly labeled.

A limited number of the company's Oats & Honey Granola with Toasted Coconut pouches were made with sesame seeds, which was not disclosed on the ingredients label.

Although sesame seeds are listed under the "May Contain" statement, they are not listed as part of the main ingredients in the product.

People who have an allergy or sensitivity to sesame seeds should immediately discontinue use of this product," the company said. However, the products may be "safely consumed" by those without an allergy or sensitivity.

This limited recall was initiated after the company discovered that the product's previous recipe was used and placed into new packaging that did not disclose sesame seeds as an ingredient.

No other KIND products are affected.

To date, the company has not received any adverse reactions related to the product.

2. PRODUCTS AFFECTED: The recall applies to the KIND Oats & Honey Granola with Toasted Coconut flavor which is sold in a plastic pouch and is available in two sizes: 11 ounces (UPC: 60265217186-4) or 17 ounces (UPC: 60265225101-6).

The impacted product can be identified by looking for the Best-By date, which is located on the bottom of the pouch:

- For the 11oz pouch, the Best By dates range from April 4, 2021 to June 1, 2021
- For the 17oz pouch, the Best By dates range from April 30, 2021 to June 1, 2021
