To date, neither Interpac Technologies nor think! have received any reports of illness associated with consumption of the recalled products. All the affected products include the following statement on the packaging: "MADE IN A FACILITY THAT PROCESSES...TREE NUTS."

The recall was initiated following a report from a consumer of finding a piece of almond while consuming the product, and it was discovered that products manufactured in the same lot may contain undeclared almonds or pecans. Subsequent investigation indicates the problem was caused by an error in the production process.
